Dear Ms. Kallas,

We are delighted to invite you to speak as a panelist at the inaugural Digital Summit @WGF to be held alongside the 2016 Wrocław Global Forum (WGF), on June 3 in Wrocław, Poland. The Digital Summit is a new addition to the Forum, and will examine key policy issues that will determine the future of the digital economy, as well as the role of Central Europe in that future. The Summit will bring together about 75 business leaders, entrepreneurs, policymakers, and experts for closed sessions that will aim to develop solutions as well as identify challenges. Given your expertise on the DSM, we would welcome your participation on the session on “From Digital Single Market to Transatlantic Digital Marketplace.”

The Digital Summit @WGF will put a sharp focus on key questions as we navigate the economy of the future: What is required to build a technology-enabled economy? Do we face an age of reindustrialization as economic sectors grapple with a developing Internet of Things? What are the responsibilities, and even liabilities, of business and government in an age of cybercrime? How will the transatlantic partners, and especially Central Europe, thrive, and even lead, in an integrated, digitized global economy?

Of course, you are also very welcome to attend the Wrocław Global Forum, which will start midday on Thursday June 2, and conclude with the Freedom Awards gala dinner on the evening of June 3. As the leading transatlantic conference in Poland, the Wrocław Global Forum annually convenes over 400 leaders from government, business, media, and civil society to shape the business and policy agenda for a forward-thinking Europe in a stronger transatlantic partnership. This year promises to be a truly exceptional year, as transatlantic leaders will gather in Wrocław only a few weeks before the Warsaw NATO summit to discuss the significant political, social, and economic changes of the past year. At the Forum, we will examine issues that are central to the fate of Europe and the transatlantic partnership: aggression and instability on Europe's borders, economic competitiveness in a changing global economy; political and economic divisions within Europe and across the Atlantic; and the potential for greater internal security threats.

Over the past few years, the WGF has hosted top speakers such as then Polish President Bronisław Komorowski; US Senators John McCain and Jeanne Shaheen; Estonian President Toomas Hendrik Ilves; Ukrainian boxer and politician Vitaly Klitschko; Foreign Minister of Moldova Natalia Gherman; and former US National Security Advisors Stephen J. Hadley and Gen. James L. Jones, Jr., among many others. This year, we anticipate hosting Polish Foreign Minister Witold Waszczykowski, Commander of the US Army in Europe General Ben Hodges, Governor Jon Huntsman, and European Commission Vice President Jyrki Katainen, as well as others.

The Forum is also home to the Atlantic Council's Freedom Awards. Last year, we presented awards to former Swedish Minister of Foreign Affairs Carl Bildt, the Donetsk National University, Polish Film Director Agnieszka Holland, imprisoned Ukrainian pilot and activist Nadia Savchenko, and the late Russian politician Boris Nemtsov. On the evening of June 3, we will present our 2016 Freedom Awards to an equally illustrious group of individuals.

We hope that you will be able to accept this invitation to join us in Wrocław—a dynamic city designated as a “European Capital of Culture” for 2016. We have attached information about the Forum and also the working programs for both the Digital Summit and the Forum. We are both available to answer any questions you may have and can be reached at the information below. We look forward to seeing you at the first Digital Summit at the Wrocław Global Forum.
