Anthony Pitt is Head of English Translation in the Conferences and Publications Department of the International Telecommunication Union (ITU), the UN specialized agency for information and communication technology (ICT), in Geneva.

After graduating with an MA in Modern Languages from St Catherine's College, Oxford (UK), and obtaining a Postgraduate Diploma in Advanced Language Studies (interpreting and translation) from the University of Bath (UK), he passed the UN translators' competitive examination and worked as a freelance translator within the UN system. He joined ITU in 1983, becoming Head of Translation in 1994.

In 2004, he obtained an MBA from the Open University (UK).

Anthony Pitt is focal point for ITU language services, representing ITU in the International Annual Meeting on Language Arrangements, Documentation and Publications (IAMLADP). He is Chair of the IAMLADP Working Group on Language Services and a member of the IAMLADP Working Group on Training and the IAMLADP Universities Contact Group.