

The Northern Dimension Institute (NDI)

The Northern Dimension Institute (NDI) is an international network community of universities and research institutes.

The actions of NDI aim at providing high-quality academic and applied research, and also higher level education, in the fields of

- energy and the environment,
- public health and social well-being,
- transport and logistics, and
- culture and society.

The activities of NDI are based on the organized work of the NDI Coordinator, the NDI Steering Group, and most importantly, the research work carried out in the NDI Scientific Thematic Groups, and the active participation of NDI partner universities and institutes. NDI aims at promoting stability, well-being and sustainable development in the Northern Dimension region by generating knowledge to support the activities and decision making of its stakeholders.

For more information, please contact:

Katja Lahikainen
 Coordinator, Northern Dimension Institute
 Lappeenranta University of Technology
 Northern Dimension Research Centre NORDI
 katja.lahikainen@lut.fi, Mobile +358 400 570 603
 www.ndinstitute.org

The development project is financed by the Ministry for Foreign Affairs of Finland.

During the years 2010-2012 NDI is coordinated by Lappeenranta University of Technology.