2009 - 2014

Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs

LIBE Committee Inquiry on Electronic Mass Surveillance of EU Citizens

Draft programme

Monday, 11 November 2013, 15:00 - 18:30

Brussels

Meeting room: JAN 4Q1

1. Session I will be dedicated to the exchange of views with Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner, Member of the Committee on the Judiciary and Chairman of the Subcommittee on Crime, Terrorism, Homeland Security, and Investigations.

Some LIBE members had the opportunity to meet the Congressman already in Washington D.C in the framework of the LIBE Delegation which took place on 28-30 October 2013.

On 29 October Congressman Sensenbrenner and Senator Patrick Leahy, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, introduced the USA Freedom Act which is meant to end the National Security Agency's bulk collection of Americans' communications records by amending Section 215 of the Patriot Act, making numerous amendments to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act and creating a privacy advocate to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court, who could argue civil liberties concerns and appeal court decisions.

2. Follow-up on the previous (7th November) hearing, Session II will continue exploring the different national practices of parliamentary or other independent oversight of national intelligence activities, with representatives of different Member States' national Parliaments.
3. Session III will focus on the involvement of the commercial companies in the US mass surveillance activities. Representatives of Microsoft and Google will make a statement about the allegations revealed by the media.
