Achoimre This publication seeks to assist the Members of the European Parliament's Committee on Budgetary Control (CONT) in their work related to the 2021 discharge procedure, scrutinising how the general budget of the European Union is spent. It is based on a sample comprising 17 special reports by the European Court of Auditors (ECA), which have been presented during CONT committee meetings over the past 12 months (December 2021 to November 2022), and for which the committee secretariat prepared working documents. This analysis provides a general overview of the ECA's mandate and the emerging role of performance auditing. The main part of this study is a section of selected tables regarding each ECA special report. The tables seek to gather published information to provide a concise and useful summary.

Achoimre During its May I plenary session, the European Parliament is due to vote on whether to grant discharge for the 2020 financial year to the EU's various institutions and bodies. First in line is the report on the European Commission and six executive agencies, responsible for the bulk of EU budget spending. Separate discharge is granted for management of the European development funds (EDFs). Parliament's Committee on Budgetary Control (CONT) recommends that Parliament grant the Commission and all six executive agencies discharge for 2020. It also recommends granting discharge for implementation of the EDFs' 2020 operations.

Achoimre As set out in Article 285 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU), the European Court of Auditors (ECA) shall consist of one national of each Member State. Article 286 (2) TFEU further specifies that each Member State has the right to propose its candidate. The Council then adopts the list of Members as proposed by the Member States. Often, this is a partial renewal of the Court - only one or a few Members are appointed, as the mandates of the Members may expire at different points in time. The Council can only act after consulting the European Parliament; in practice, the Committee on Budgetary Control (CONT) is responsible and the Member-designate of the ECA makes a statement before the committee and has to answer its questions. CONT then votes on the nomination and thus issues a recommendation to plenary, which votes within two months of receipt of the nomination. In case of an unfavourable opinion, the President shall ask the Council to withdraw its nomination and to submit a new nomination (Rule 129 of the EP's Rules of Procedure). However, Parliament's opinion is not binding for the Council.

Achoimre This note intends to provide general information about simplification as well as to look a bit more in detail on this issue in the framework of Cohesion Policy, Common Agricultural Policy and Research. These three EU policies represent sectors that largely benefit from the financing of the EU budget and have experienced simplification due to the response of the Commission, the European Parliament and the Council to the requests of final beneficiaries. At the same time, there have been repeated calls from the European Court of Auditors regarding these policies to reduce their complexity and further apply simplification measures, without compromising their functioning and the sound financial management of the EU budget.

Achoimre KEY FINDINGS
Open office spaces are introduced for the following reason:
- Saving costs on real estate. Real estate expenses are the second largest costs for a company. By creating more workplaces in the same amount of square meters costs can be reduced on buildings and maintenance.
- Increase communication. If people are in closer proximity from one another and move around freely communication will increase.
- Improve team work. As teams are now sharing the same space knowledge sharing will increase both within the same team and across different teams.
The following arguments oppose the introduction of open office spaces:
- Loss of productivity. Employees are distracted faster because of noise or colleagues moving around. It takes on average 25 minutes to resume a task after distraction. In an open office space employees are distracted faster because of phone calls, people walking by or nearby conversations.
- Problems with noise, temperature and fatigue. As said before, noise is one of the main distractions in an open office space. Temperature is managed centrally and it could therefore be too cold of one person and too warm for another. Fatigue is a side effect from noise and temperature and the fact that people have a constant overload of information with the introduction of multiple screens like phone, tablets and computer.
- Increase of sickness. As employees are in closer proximity of one another diseases can spread faster. The spread of diseases raise the amount of sick days taken in a company.
- Decrease of overall well-being of employees. The main cause for the diminishing of well-being is the level of stress. The idea of being watched all the time increases the levels of stress in an open office space.

Achoimre During its July plenary session, the European Parliament is set to discuss the Committee on Budgetary Control's report on the control of the European Investment Bank's financial activities for 2018. Among other things, the report highlights the role of the Bank in financing the European Green Deal, the Just Transition Fund, and its future shift towards becoming 'the EU Climate Bank'. The report also stresses the need for more effectiveness and synergies when it comes to the European Fund for Strategic Investments, and highlights the need for more transparency and accountability of all the Bank's operations, stronger external scrutiny and reinforced mechanisms to fight fraud and corruption.

Achoimre During the May plenary session, the European Parliament is expected to decide whether to grant discharge for the 2018 financial year to the different institutions and bodies of the European Union (EU). The first item in this process is the report covering the European Commission (including six executive agencies) which is in charge of managing the biggest share of the EU general budget. Separate discharge is granted to the Commission concerning management of the European Development Funds (EDFs), which are not part of the general budget as they are established by intergovernmental agreement. The Committee on Budgetary Control (CONT) recommends that Parliament should grant the Commission and all six executive agencies discharge for 2018. It also recommends granting discharge in respect of the implementation of the operations of the EDFs in 2018.

Achoimre In the European Union, several institutions, agencies and other bodies (collectively referred to as 'EU authorities') are concerned with preventing and combating fraud related to the EU budget. These EU authorities, and the activities they carry out – including policy-making, monitoring and operational tasks – make up a multi-layered network in which Member States and international organisations are also included. At the domestic level, national authorities contribute by detecting, prosecuting and reporting fraudulent behaviour in the use of European Union funds to the European Commission. At the same time, a number of international organisations coordinate efforts across countries and legal systems to combat fraud. The present analysis offers an overview of this network, with a focus on the European Union institutional framework.

The European Parliament is strongly committed to Better Law-Making, and particularly to the effective use of ex-ante impact assessment and ex-post evaluation throughout the entire legislative cycle. It is in this spirit that the Parliament has a particular interest in following the transposition, implementation and enforcement of EU law, and, more generally, monitoring the impact, operation, effectiveness and delivery of policy and programmes in practice.

Achoimre To enhance labour mobility, the European Commission proposed in 2016 to establish a common system of qualifications for workers on EU inland waterways, based on their competence. While the previous EU legislation applied only to boatmasters, the proposal introduced harmonised rules for all deck crew members and extended the scope of legislation to the previously excluded River Rhine. After interinstitutional negotiations concluded on 27 June 2017, the European Parliament adopted the agreed text on 14 November 2017 and the Council approved the EP position on 4 December 2017. The final act was published in the Official Journal on 27 December 2017. Member States have until 17 January 2022 to transpose the provisions into their national law. Fifth edition. Achoimre Audit work has changed over the years. Compliance audits look principally at the legality and regularity of payments, but they say nothing about whether the political and economic objectives were achieved. A bridge in the middle of nowhere may have been built in respect of public procurement rules and contract obligations. These compliance audits are increasingly supplemented by performance audits, in which you try to answer the question whether the objective was achieved in an economic, effective and efficient manner. In spite of the growing complexity of the audit process the administrative burden for beneficiaries should remain reasonable. The key question is: How do we strike the right balance between providing easy access to European public funds for beneficiaries, while guaranteeing sound financial management. One element which has to be put in place for this purpose is a single audit chain, where one level builds on the work of the other.

Achoimre This rolling check-list presents a comprehensive overview of the European Court of Auditors' (ECA) special reports, concentrating on those relevant for the 2015 EU discharge procedure. The document seeks to link the topics discussed by the special reports to the relevant debates and positions within the European Parliament, including notably the working documents of the Budgetary Control Committee, to the work of the various specialised parliamentary committees, and to individual Members' questions. It is produced by the Policy Cycle Unit of the European Parliamentary Research Service (EPRS), the Parliament's in-house research service and think-tank, as part of its on-going support for parliamentary committees and individual Members, helping them to scrutinise the executive in its implementation of EU law, policies and programmes. The European Parliament is strongly committed to the concept of better law-making, and particularly to the effective use of ex-ante impact assessment and ex-post evaluation throughout the whole legislative cycle. It is in this spirit that the Parliament has a particular interest in following the transposition, implementation and enforcement of EU law, and, more generally, in monitoring the impact, operation, effectiveness and delivery of policy and programmes in practice.

Achoimre In July 2015, the European Commission proposed a reform of the EU Emissions Trading System (ETS) for the period 2021-2030, following the guidance set by the October 2014 European Council. The proposed directive introduces a new limit on greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions in the ETS sector to achieve the EU climate targets for 2030, new rules for addressing carbon leakage, and provisions for funding innovation and modernisation in the energy sector. It encourages Member States to compensate for indirect carbon costs. In combination with the Market Stability Reserve agreed in May 2015, the proposed reform sets out the EU ETS rules for the period up to 2030, giving greater certainty to industry and to investors. In the European Parliament, the ENVI Committee takes the lead on the proposal, while it shares competence with the ITRE Committee on some aspects. The ITRE Committee adopted its opinion on 13 October 2016; the ENVI Committee adopted its report on 15 December 2016, and a vote in plenary is expected in February 2017. Achoimre In April 2016, the European Parliament (EP) granted discharge to the European Commission and most EU institutions and bodies as regards 2014 budget implementation. However, the EP decided to postpone its decisions on section II of the EU budget (European Council and Council) and on the budgets of three joint undertakings (Artemis, ENIAC and F4E-ITER). On 26-27 October, the EP is due to consider new reports tabled by its Committee on Budgetary Control on the outstanding decisions, so as to grant or refuse discharge for each case. This will finalise the 2014 discharge procedure.

The European Commission has undertaken actions addressing the recommendations of the report but it is unclear how effective these actions have been, or are likely to be, in addressing the underlying concerns expressed in the report. In particular, understanding of the effectiveness and impact of European Union funding to Turkey is still very limited.

Achoimre On 28 April, the European Parliament is due to vote on recommendations on discharge to the European Union's agencies and joint undertakings for their implementation of the EU's 2014 budget. The Parliament's Committee on Budgetary Control proposes to grant discharge to all the decentralised agencies, highlighting progress made (for example in reduction of staff and adoption of anti-fraud and transparency rules) but expressing concerns on issues such as efficiency, accountability and independency. The Committee also recommends granting discharge to five of the eight joint undertakings set up in the research field. The Committee calls for improvements in implementation of the ex-post audit strategy, in cooperation with the Commission as regards the integration of research results, and in cost-control mechanisms. For the remaining three undertakings, the Committee calls for additional information and clarity of the budgetary and financial plans, with a view to a vote on discharge taking place in October.

Achoimre On 28 April 2016, the European Parliament (EP) will decide whether to grant discharge for the 2014 financial year to the different institutions and bodies of the European Union (EU). The debate will open with the report covering the European Commission (plus six executive agencies) which manages the biggest share of the EU general budget. Separate discharge is granted to the Commission concerning the management of the European Development Funds (EDFs), because this fund is not part of the general budget of the EU but based on intergovernmental agreement. The Committee on Budgetary Control (CONT) recommends to plenary to grant the Commission and all six executive agencies discharge for 2014, and also to grant discharge in respect of the implementation of the operations of the 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th EDFs in that year.

Achoimre This Briefing provides a succinct overview of the key findings and recommendations of a recent European Court of Auditors' Special Report – in this case, on the operation of the EU's External Borders Fund – and also summarises the European Commission's reaction to the report, as well as the European Parliament's activities and position on the issue. It has been produced by the Policy Performance Appraisal Unit of the European Parliamentary Research Service (EPRS), as part of its routine analytical work on the implementation and operation of existing EU legislation, programmes and policies in practice. The document concludes that the European Court of Auditors, the European Commission and the Member States all agree that the External Borders Fund (EBF) has fostered financial solidarity between Member States and contributed positively to external border management. However, there were strategic and operational weaknesses in the Fund's programming and implementation, both at Member State and Commission level: national programmes were lacking measurable objectives and indicators; there were weaknesses in Member States' procurement procedures; and there were deficiencies in the monitoring and in the ex-post evaluations by the Commission and Members States. More emphasis should be given to the design of future funding programmes, which should focus on creating sustainable, measurable and visible European added value. The right balance should be achieved between accountability and excessive administrative burdens. Special attention should be given to the quality of the Commission's evaluation reports, scrutinising their objectivity and timeliness, the accuracy and reliability of data presented, and their usefulness for the design of the successor funding programmes, as these are fundamental tools within the policy cycle, which help to identify future policy challenges.

Achoimre The annual adjustment of the financing of the EU budget is now in the spotlight. In 2013, around three quarters of the total revenue (€149.5 billion) came from a resource linked to the gross national income (GNI) of EU countries. A resource based on value added tax (VAT) provides another 10% of total revenue. These two resources, together with a series of correction mechanisms, represent the national contributions to the EU budget. Since both resources are linked to statistical aggregates, their calculation takes into account estimates and final data, and needs to be regularly updated. A system of checks and controls is in place, which includes aspects of peer review among Member States through specific committees. The European Court of Auditors says that the management of revenue is not affected by material errors (estimated error rate is 0%), but has made recommendations relating to the GNI resource. Each October, GNI and VAT contributions are updated on the basis of revised statistical bases. Coupled with an amending budget, this revision does not result in extra funds for the EU budget, but in a redistribution of burden sharing among Member States. Relevant adjustments must be credited and debited at the beginning of December. This year's revision, which reflects efforts to resolve longstanding reservations on some GNI data, resulted in larger adjustments than usual. On the Council's request, the Commission has put forward a proposal to allow Member States to postpone relevant payments until 1 September of the following year if specific conditions are met. The EP, which has little say in the own resources system, has long pushed for its reform, criticising among other things its complexity and the predominant role the GNI resource has gained over time. A high-level group is carrying out a general review of the system, which could pave the way to reform proposals.

Achoimre This study is a follow up to the 2011 study commissioned by the European Parliament’s Committee on Budgets "The implications of EIB and EBRD co-financing for the EU budget". It explores how the recommendations made in that earlier study have been taken up by the actors within the EU institutions, evaluates how far changes have been implemented which are in line with the proposals contained within that report and reflects on how visible EP studies are in general. It finds that although visibility needs to be improved, this study has had a clear policy impact nevertheless.

Achoimre This note aims at providing some information on the changes brought to the annual Budget as voted by the Parliament at the end of each year. It provides figures on the budgetary modifications, which mainly include amending budgets and transfers. It also focuses on the year-end amending budget reducing the level of payments appropriations to align the budget to the estimates of needs, which reduces Member States contributions to the EU budget.
The note concludes that such an amending budget does not seem well in line with art. 37 of the Financial Regulation which states that: 'If there are unavoidable, exceptional or unforeseen circumstances, the Commission may present (preliminary) draft amending budgets'. Its direct effect is to reduce the level of the year's surplus, what gives an erroneous picture of budgetary implementation, compared to the initial budget voted by the budgetary authority. Besides, should no agreement be found between the two arms of the budgetary authority, such amending budget, while reducing the authorised budget for the year, would also reduce the level of the provisional twelfths for the upcoming year. Finally, it seems that MS treasuries do not benefit from such an amending budget as one would have expected since, in the Commission's cash management system, unused funds usually remain on Commission's accounts in national Treasuries or Central Banks.

Achoimre	For funds under shared management, Member States established annual summaries ("of the available audits and declarations") for the first time for the year 2007. The study analyses and evaluates the value-added of the 2007 summaries. It concludes that, given the limited value-added of annual summaries in their current form, notably when compared to other existing reporting documents drawn up by Member States, the annual summaries should be developed further in view to instituting comprehensive national management declarations.
